Meridian Compensation Partners Unveils Exclusive, New iPad Application for Board Compensation Committee Members

Application Provides Wealth of Background Information to Help Board Members in Decision-Making

LAKE FOREST, IL. —Corporate board members who serve on compensation committees along with senior HR professionals now have access to a new executive compensation reference and news application for their iPad®. Meridian Compensation Partners, a leading, independent executive compensation consulting and corporate governance firm, announced the introduction of its Compensation Committee Handbook app.

The one-of-a-kind application, which can be downloaded for free at the iTunes Store® or from Meridian's website (www.meridiancp.com/app), features: a library of executive compensation primers on plan design, benchmarking, governance, disclosure, taxes and accounting treatment; direct access to proxies and relevant 8K disclosures for public companies; alerts to the latest regulatory and legislative news; and the ability to ask questions of Meridian's consulting experts. Users can follow up to ten of their favorite companies through a personalized app feature that provides them with a quick link to important disclosure data for those companies.

"The iPad is fast becoming the productivity tool of choice for decision making by board members across the country," said Ryan Harvey, Meridian senior consultant and designer of the application. "Now anyone can quickly check a number, review the fundamentals of executive compensation design, or dig into the detail of a new regulation before, during or after the meeting. We believe this will be a 'must-have' app for anyone having corporate governance responsibilities for executive compensation."
